A reshuffle of Shanghai government leaders, including the dismissal of two vice-mayors, was announced yesterday, but no mention was made of changes to the positions of the city's mayor or Communist Party secretary. The Shanghai People's Congress approved the removal of vice-mayors Zhou Yupeng and Yan Junqi, Shanghai television and the government-backed Eastday website said. The Shanghai legislature also approved the appointment of a new secretary general - ranked just below vice-mayor - and new heads of the civil affairs and agriculture departments. Mr Zhou's departure was expected after he was named a vice-chairman of the Shanghai People's Congress earlier this month. There were also rumours his vice-mayoral career was drawing to an end after he gave up the key World Expo portfolio last year. Shanghai will host the world's fair in 2010. Mr Zhou, a native of Jiangsu province and an economist by training, had served as vice-mayor since 1998. He has held several other government and party positions. (SCMP, 28 Feb 07)

Macau

China's State Council decided on 14 February to appoint Lau Sio lo [Liu Shiyao] as Secretary for Transport and Public Works of the Macau Special Administrative Region. The decision was made in accordance with the Basic Law of Macao and based on the nomination and recommendation by Edmund Ho Hau Wah, Macau's chief executive. (XNA, 16 Feb 07)

The Central Government has appointed Lao Si lo (劉仕堯) to become the new Secretary for Transport and Public Works of the Macau Special Administrative Region. Lao, 52, was born in Macau and graduated with a civil engineering degree from Calgary University in Canada. He entered the Macau Government in 1984, working for the former Municipal Council of Macau in the areas of cleaning and environment protection. He was appointed Director of the Municipal Services in January 1999, responsible for all municipal matters in the City of Macau under the command of the Executive Committee of the Municipal Council. He was further promoted to become Vice-President of the Executive Committee of the Provisional Municipal Council of Macau, and was made President of the Civic and Municipal Affairs Bureau when it replaced the municipal organs in 2002. Lao was also a member of the 2nd and 3rd Legislative Assembly Electoral Commission, and the Assembly of the Environment Council. Lao replaced Ao Man Long (歐文龍) who was exonerated by the Central Government in December 2006 for serious corruption. (www.blogmacau.info, 16 Feb 07, accessed 26 Feb 07)

The State Council of the People's Republic of China has accepted the Chief Executive Mr Edmund Ho Hau Wah's nomination of Mr Lau Sio lo as the new Secretary for Transport and Public Works of the Macau Special Administrative Region (MSAR). Mr Ho expressed his gratitude to the Central Government's trust and support, and extended his warmest regards and congratulations to Mr Lau. According to the MSAR Basic Law, the Secretary for Transport and Public Works is a principal official. The Chief Executive has to appoint a nominee who has Chinese nationality and is a permanent resident of Macau. The Chief Executive also has to send his nomination to the Central Government for approval. Mr Ho said that Mr Lau, who has rich experience in administration, was the most suitable candidate for the post of Secretary for Transport and Public Works. He was also confident Mr Lau to be honest and clean in performing his official duties. As a result of the appointment, Mr Lau has stepped down from his position of President of the Civic and Municipal Affairs Bureau. Mr Lau Sio lo, 51, is an engineering graduate of the University of Calgary in Canada. After working in the private sector for three years, he joined the civil service, starting with the Leal Senado in October 1984. He held various positions including assistant technician, chief of sector, chief of division in the Public Works Department, chief of the Hygiene and Cleansing Department, vice-president and president of the Leal Senado. After the establishment of the MSAR, he became vice-president of the executive board of the Provisional Municipal Council of Macau. The Civic and Municipal Affairs Bureau was established in January 2002 and Mr Lau was sworn in as the President of the administration committee. Mr Lau had attended a number of training courses for civil servants, in Macau, the Mainland and Portugal. (www.gcs.gov.mo, 16 Feb 07, accessed 26 Feb 07)

PRC Laws and Regulations

LIU Jen-Kai

Beijing, 16 Feb (Xinhua) - The Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Export Control Over Dual-Use Nuclear Materials and the Related Technologies (promulgated according to Decree 245 of the State Council of the People's Republic of China dated 10 June 1998 and amended according to the Decision of the State Council dated 26 January 2007 on Amending the "Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Export Control Over Dual-Use Nuclear Materials and the Related Technologies")

(Decree No. 484 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 26 January 2007)

Article 1: These regulations have been formulated to strengthen the control over the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies, prevent nuclear proliferation, guard against terrorist acts, promote international cooperation in the peaceful use of nuclear energy, and safeguard state security as well as social and public interests.

Article 2: The export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies mentioned by these regulations refers to the export in the nature of trade of equipment, materials, software, and the related technologies as well as foreign-oriented donations, exhibitions, technological cooperation, assistance, service, and all other forms of transfer listed by the "Control List of Export of Dual-Use Nuclear Materials and the Related Technologies" (hereinafter called "control list" for short).

Article 3: The state exercises strict control over the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies, strictly performs its international obligation of nonproliferation of nuclear weapons, prevents the use of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies for nuclear explosion purposes or nuclear terrorist acts. To safeguard state security and international peace and security, the state may at any time take necessary measures on the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies.

Article 4: The export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies should proceed according to the state's relevant law, administrative law and rules, and provisions of these regulations. It should not damage state security or social and public interests.

Article 5: The state exercises the permit control system on the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies.

Article 6: The approval for the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies should be based on the following guarantees made by the recipient:

(1) The recipient must guarantee that it will not use the dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies or any other replicas provided by China, for nuclear explosion purposes or any purposes other than the end application that has been clarified.

(2) The recipient must guarantee that it will not use the dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies or any other replicas provided by China, for nuclear fuel recycling activities without the protection and supervision by the International Atomic Energy Agency. This provision does not apply to countries falling under the International Atomic Energy Agency's voluntary protection agreement.

(3) The recipient must guarantee that without the Chinese Government's permission, it will not transfer the dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies or any other replicas provided by China, to a third party other than the end user that has been clarified.

Article 7: Exporters of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies must register with the Ministry of Commerce. Without registration, no unit or individual is allowed to deal in the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies. Detailed registration procedures will be stipulated by the Ministry of Commerce.

Article 8: The export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies listed on the control list requires the filing of application to the Ministry of Commerce. An application form on the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies should be submitted with the following documents:

(1) Certificates of identity of the statutory agent of the applicant, the principal managerial person, and the dealer;

(2) Copies of the contract or agreement;

(3) Technical explanations or test reports on dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies;

(4) Certificates of the end user and end use;

(5) Documents of guarantee stipulated by Article 6;

(6) Other documents required by the Ministry of Commerce.

Article 9: The export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies, participation in exhibitions of such materials and the related technologies outside China, their use by the Chinese side itself outside China, their repair and maintenance outside China, their transportation back into China within the time limits, their retransportation out of China after repair and maintenance in China, or any other situations prescribed by the Ministry of Commerce may be exempted from submitting the relevant documents stipulated by Article 8 of these regulations as long as the applications have been examined and approved by the Ministry of Commerce.

Article 10: The applicant should fill out the export application form accurately and truthfully. Export application forms are exclusively printed and distributed by the Ministry of Commerce.

Article 11: The Ministry of Commerce should, upon receipt of the export application forms and the documents specified by Article 8 of these regulations, discuss with the State Atomic Energy Agency or its relevant department, and with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs if the applications involve foreign policy, proceed with the necessary examination, and make a decision in 45 working days on whether the applications are approved or denied.

Article 12: With regard to the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies that have important bearings on state security, social and public interests, or foreign policy, the Ministry of Commerce and the relevant department should submit the applications to the State Council for approval.

Applications submitted to the State Council for approval do not fall under the restriction of the time limit prescribed by Article 11.

Article 13: If an application for the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies is approved, the Ministry of Commerce will issue a permit for the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies (hereinafter called "export permit" for short).

Article 14: If the holder of the export permit changes the original application for the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies, the original export permit should be returned to the Ministry of Commerce, and a new application should be submitted for another export permit in accordance with the relevant provisions of these regulations.

Article 15: When exporting dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies, the exporter should produce the export permit to the customs, complete the necessary customs procedures according to the customs regulations, and accept customs inspection.

Article 16: The customs may raise questions for exporters about the export permits for dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies when exporting equipment, materials, software, and the related technologies, and may require exporters to apply to the Ministry of Commerce for certificates and documents certifying whether the equipment, materials, software, and the related technologies to be exported fall within the scope of export control for dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies. If the equipment, materials, software, and the related technologies to be exported fall within the scope of export control for dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies, the exporters should, pursuant to the provisions of these regulations, apply for export permits for dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies. Detailed procedures will be worked out by the General Administration of Customs and the Ministry of Commerce.

Article 17: In case the recipient breaks the promise it has made according to the provisions of Article 6, or in case there is an outbreak of nuclear proliferation or terrorist acts, the Ministry of Commerce should suspend or revoke the export permits it has issued and should notify the relevant department of the case.

Article 18: Exporters should establish and perfect the internal control mechanism for the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies and appropriately keep the relevant contracts, invoices, receipts, business letters, and other documents for not less than five years. The Ministry of Commerce is entitled to check, review, and copy the relevant information.

Article 19: Exporters who are aware, or should be aware, or obtain a notification from the Ministry of Commerce that the equipment, materials, software, and relevant technologies to be exported bear nuclear proliferation risks or may be used for nuclear terrorist purposes should abide by the provisions of these regulations even if the equipment, materials, software, and relevant technologies are not included on the control list.

Article 20: With the approval of the State Council, the Ministry of Commerce and the relevant department may decide impromptu to exercise control over the export of specially prescribed dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies outside the control list.

The export of specially prescribed dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies that fall within the provision of the previous clause should obtain permits according to the provisions of these regulations.

Article 21: The Ministry of Commerce will organize the relevant experts to form an export control advisory committee on dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies, to provide advice, assessments, and verification for exercising export control over dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies.

Article 22: The Ministry of Commerce, or the Ministry of Commerce and the relevant department, may investigate and stop any behaviour suspected of violating the provisions of these regulations. If necessary, the Ministry of Commerce may report to the customs on the equipment, materials, software, and the related technologies to be exported. The customs may inspect and detain the goods that fall under their supervision. The relevant units and individuals should provide cooperation and assistance.

Article 23: Export of dual-use nuclear materials in violation of the provisions of these regulations will be subjected to punishment according to the provisions of Customs Law.

Export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies in violation of the provisions of these regulations will be given a warning by the Ministry of Commerce with a penalty of one to five times the amount of goods to be illegally exported. If the amount of goods to be illegally exported is less than 50,000 yuan, the penalty will be 50,000 yuan to less than 250,000 yuan. Illegal earnings, if any, will be confiscated. A violation that constitutes a crime will be held criminally accountable according to law.

Article 24: Forgery, imitation, or selling and buying of export permits will be punished according to the relevant law and administrative rules. If any of these constitutes a crime, the perpetrator will be held criminally accountable according to law.

Export permits obtained by deception or any other improper means will be confiscated by the Ministry of Commerce with a penalty of one to five times the amount of goods to be illegally exported. If the amount of goods to be illegally exported is less than 50,000 yuan, the penalty will be 50,000 yuan to less than 250,000 yuan. Illegal earnings, if any, will be confiscated. A violation that constitutes a crime will be held criminally accountable according to law.

Article 25: State functionaries who neglect their duties, play favouritism, commit irregularities, and abuse their power in exercising control over the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies will be held criminally accountable if their behaviour constitutes a crime. They will be given punishment if their behaviour does not constitute a crime.

Article 26: The Ministry of Commerce, together with the State Atomic Energy Agency and the relevant department, may adjust the control list in accordance with the actual situation and announce the adjustments.

Article 27: In case an international treaty the People's Republic of China accedes to or participates in carries different provisions from these regulations, the provisions of the international treaty will apply. But the clauses the People's Republic of China retains as it announced are an exception.

Article 28: The provisions of these regulations apply to the export of dual-use nuclear materials and the related technologies from the bonded areas, export processing areas, customs special supervisory areas, export supervisory storage houses, bonded commodity exchange centres, and other bonded supervisory sites.

Article 29: These regulations come into effect as of the date of announcement.

Regulations on Administering Authorized Commercial Businesses, adopted at the 167th State Council's executive meeting on 31 January 2007. These regulations will take effect as of 1 May 2007. (Decree No.485 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 6 February 2007) (Full text: RMRB, 16 Feb 07) The regulations consist of five chapters with 34 articles.

China released on 27 February a new regulation to restrict film shooting and artistic performances in natural reserves and scenic spots. "Some big-budget films and artistic performances these years are over-obsessed with economic returns, and have greatly damaged natural environment. Thus film shooting and artistic performances in natural reserves, scenic spots and sites of historic interest must be strictly restricted," said the regulation. The regulation is jointly issued by the State Environmental Protection Administration, the Ministry of Construction, the Ministry of Culture and the State Administration of Cultural Heritage. Film shooting and artistic performances will only be allowed in experimental zones of nature reserves, outer sections of scenic spots and some cultural heritage sites, upon approval from relevant authorities. People who violate the regulation will be dealt with harshly, the regulation said, citing damage remediation, monetary fines, and court charges in severe cases of environmental damage. The State Environmental Protection Administration has already issued a similar regulation earlier this month to regulate film shooting, artistic performances in nature reserves and scenic sites. China now has 2,349 natural reserves, covering about 1.5 million square kilometres, or 15 per cent of China's land area. Last year, Chinese director Chen Kaige was fined 90,000 yuan (11,250 US dollars) for littering and destroying vegetation while shooting his 42-million-dollar film "The Promise" at a scenic nature reserve in Shangri La, in southwest China's Yunnan Province.
