

Call for Papers – Extended
Authors' Workshop

Regional Perspectives on a Nuclear Weapons Ban

Under the guest editorship of Dr. Leonardo Bandarra, University of Duisburg-Essen and Middle East Treaty Organization (METO), and Dr. Miriam Prys-Hansen, Lead Research Fellow at the German Institute for Global and Area Studies (GIGA), Peace Review: A Journal of Social Justice 36(2) invites essays for a special issue addressing Regional Perspectives on a Nuclear Weapons Ban.

In preparation for that special issue and with the aim of fostering discussions and new scholarship on how regional politics shape global nuclear nonproliferation and disarmament politics, the guest editors invite applications for a virtual author's workshop on 22 May 2023.

Please note that participation in this workshop does not entail an automatic acceptance of a contribution to the Special Issue and authors can propose manuscripts without having participated in the workshop. All articles for the special issue will have to be submitted online through the Journal's website and will be subjected to peer-review process.

Applications for the author's workshop will be accepted until 02 April 2023. To apply, please send a one-page abstract together with a bio note to leonardo.bandarra@uni-due.de and miriam.prys@giga-hamburg.de. We also welcome proposals for Interviews, Collections, or Orations. Please note in your email message which type of publishing format you intend to submit.

