Australian-German Dialogue on the Asia-Pacific

Wednesday 29 – Friday 31 August 2018

The Australian National University
Canberra, Australia

Delivered by the College of Asia and the Pacific at the Australian National University and the Regional Programme Australia and the Pacific of the Konrad-Adenauer-Foundation
Dr Gudrun Wacker is at present Senior Fellow in the Asia Division at the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (Stiftung Wissenschaft und Politik, SWP) in Berlin, a think tank providing political advice to the German government and parliament. Her research focuses on Chinese foreign and security policy, especially EU-China relations, China and the Asia-Pacific region and security cooperation in the Asia-Pacific more generally. She has organised the annual 'Berlin Conference on Asia Security' at SWP in Berlin, and co-organised an annual track two dialogue between EU and China on cross-strait relations with the Shanghai Institutes for International Relations. She is currently a member of the Steering Committee of CSCAP EU and EU delegate to the Experts and Eminent Persons Group of the ASEAN Regional Forum.

Recent Publications

Ms Rabea Brauer
With Masters in Political Science, American Studies, EU Law and EU Administration from Universities in Germany and the US, Rabea Brauer served the State Government of Thuringia, Germany as Spokeswomen of the Ministry of the Interior. Later, she joined the European Commission as Head of Section for Good Governance & Democracy at the EU Delegation to Cambodia. After four years with the Commission, she then represented the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung in Cambodia and Vietnam as Country Director. Since January 2016 Rabea Brauer heads the Team Asia & Pacific at KAS Headquarter in Berlin, Germany.

Dr Sarah Kirchberger
Dr Sarah Kirchberger has been the Head of the Center for Asia-Pacific Strategy and Security at the Institute for Security Policy at Kiel University (ISPK) since 2017. She is the author of Assessing China’s Naval Power: Technological Innovation, Economic Constraints, and Strategic Implications (Springer, 2015).

Kirchberger holds an M.A. and a Ph.D. in Sinology from the University of Hamburg. Before joining the faculty of the Asia-Africa-Institute at the University of Hamburg as an Assistant Professor of Contemporary China in 2010, she served for three years as a naval analyst with shipbuilder Blohm + Voss/TKMS in Hamburg, where she was charged with analyzing naval developments world-wide in cooperation with technical departments and naval sales executives.

Originally trained as a specialist of Chinese Communist Party politics and history during studies in Hamburg, Trier, and Taipei, Kirchberger began researching China’s naval development during 2011, and has since continued to focus on related topics of maritime security in the Asia-Pacific. Other previous and current research interests include domestic Chinese reform discourses within the CCP; military-technological co-operation between China, Russia and Ukraine; the geostrategic importance of Taiwan and the South China Sea for China’s military planners; hybrid threats to maritime security; and China’s space and naval strategy.

Recent Publications
Professor Patrick Köllner

Professor Patrick Köllner is Vice President of the German Institute of Global and Area Studies (GIGA), Director of the GIGA Institute of Asian Studies, and Professor of Political Science at the University of Hamburg. He studied at the universities of Konstanz and Essex and holds a doctorate from Humboldt University of Berlin and a habilitation from the University of Trier. His research interests revolve around political organisations and institutions in Asia and in comparative perspective.

Recent Publications

Köllner, Patrick / Zhu, Xufeng (special issue guest editors) (2018), Understanding the Development of Think Tanks in Mainland China, Taiwan, and Japan, Pacific Affairs 91, 1, https://pacificaffairs.ubc.ca/ubc-product/volume-91-no-1/

Dr Beatrice Gorawantschy

Dr Beatrice Gorawantschy holds a PhD in Political Science from the Saar University, Germany. She has been with the Konrad-Adenauer Foundation since 1992. After being posted to Ankara, Turkey (1993/94), she served as resident representative of KAS Manila, Philippines from 1995-1998 and thereafter as desk officer for South Asia, Southeast Asia, Turkey and Iran at KAS Headquarters in Germany from 1998-2002. From 2002-2005, she served as resident representative of the KAS Office in Bangkok, Thailand. This was followed by a four-year term as Director of the Paris office where she was responsible for France, Italy, the Vatican and Spain. From 2009-2012 she was resident representative of KAS’ India office. From 2012-2015, she was Director of the Team Asia and the Pacific at Headquarters in Berlin, and from 2015-2017 she headed the Regional Programme Political Dialogue Asia and the Pacific based in Singapore. In March 2017 the new Regional Programme Australia and the Pacific, based in Canberra, was established under her directorship.
Professor Jörn Dosch

Professor Jörn Dosch is Professor/Chair of International Politics and Development Cooperation and Vice-Dean of the Faculty of Economic and Social Sciences at the University of Rostock, Germany. He is also Adjunct Professor at Monash University Malaysia where he was previously Acting Dean of the School of Arts and Social Sciences. Former positions include professor of Asia Pacific Studies and Head of the Department of East Asian Studies at the University of Leeds, UK. He began his academic career in the early 1990s as a Lecturer in Political Science and International Relations at the University of Mainz, Germany, before moving to Stanford University as a Fulbright Scholar later in the same decade. Professor Dosch has also held visiting fellowships at several universities and research institutes, including the East West Center in Honolulu, Parahyangan University in Bandung, Prince of Songkla University in Thailand, the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS) in Singapore, De La Salle University in Manila and the Centre for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) in Jakarta. Professor Dosch has been working on international relations in Southeast Asia and the wider Asia Pacific region for more than 25 years and published several dozen books and articles on ASEAN-related issues. He has also worked as an evaluator and consultant on ASEAN matters for the European Union, the German Federal Ministries of Economic Cooperation and Development and Foreign Affairs respectively, UNDP, and several other organisations.

Recent Publications

Professor Christoph Schuck

Christoph Schuck is a Professor of Political Science in the Department of Philosophy and Political Science and currently Dean of the Faculty of Humanities and Theology at TU Dortmund University. His research concentrates on both International Relations (such as security studies, transnational terrorism, military interventions, crisis prevention and peace consolidation) and Political Theory (such as theories of Islamism, theories of democracy). Christoph Schuck has been a Visiting Researcher at Yale University, New Haven, CT (USA), Parahyangan Catholic University Bandung (Indonesia), the University of Malaya, Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia) and the University of Lucerne (Switzerland). From 1996 to 2001, Christoph Schuck studied Social Sciences (focus: developing countries) and Geography at Gießen University (Germany) and the University of Tampere (Finland), completing his Ph.D. as a DAAD-scholarship-holder at Gießen University with a thesis on Indonesia’s democratic transition in 2003. In the following years, he became a DFG Postdoctoral Research Fellow and directed several projects for Germany’s Federal Foreign Office to support Indonesia’s road to democracy. In 2008, he completed his habilitation on transnational Islamism, followed by an interim professorship in International Relations at the University of Jena. In 2009, Christoph Schuck became an Associate Professor and in 2013, a Full Professor of Political Science at TU Dortmund University. In the same year, he was admitted to the Global Young Faculty (GYF) of the Mercator Foundation.

Recent Publications

About ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

The College of Asia and the Pacific at the Australian National University is a trusted partner for education, expertise and insight on the world’s most dynamic region.

The College was founded with a mission to develop and maintain world-leading expertise on Australia’s region. Never has this been more important than it is today.

With over 260 academics, the College has the largest concentration of Asia Pacific experts in the English-speaking world.

Our experts combine disciplinary, regional and policy focus to help understand the region and the challenges and opportunities that exist.

Our research is centred around five key themes designed to support transformative change – development; security; governance; sustainability and prosperity; and culture and identity.

Across the College, we work closely with leaders in government, business and industry to translate this research into practical support so they can make the best decisions today for a better future tomorrow.

Our research also informs our education programs, which encourage students to be deeply connected with the region and prepare them for diverse and challenging careers.

We encourage you to engage with our community and find out more about the consequential work of the College of Asia and the Pacific.
Dr Stephan Fruehling

Dr Stephan Fruehling is an Associate Professor in the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre and Associate Dean (Students and Curriculum) for the College of Asia & the Pacific. He is a Chief Investigator on the ARC’s Discovery Project on Small Allies and Extended Nuclear Deterrence. In 2014-2015, Stephan was a member of the Australian Government’s external panel of experts on the development of the 2016 Defence White Paper. He was the ‘Partner across the globe’ research fellow at the NATO Defense College in 2015; the inaugural Director of Studies of the ANU Master in Military Studies program at the Australian Defence Force’s Command and Staff College from 2011 to June 2012, and the Deputy Director of Studies until the end of 2013. Stephan was Managing Editor of the journal Security Challenges from 2006 to 2014.

Dr Nicholas Farrelly

Dr Nicholas Farrelly is the Associate Dean in the ANU College of Asia and the Pacific responsible for development and impact initiatives. In this role, he leads the College’s engagement with a range of government, business and civil society organisations. Dr Farrelly is the Ambassador for the Westpac Research Fellowship program and works closely with a number of other Australian businesses to support the quality of their engagement with Asia. After graduating from the ANU, Dr Farrelly completed his MPhil and DPhil at Balliol College, University of Oxford, where he was a Rhodes Scholar. His research focuses on political conflict and social change in mainland Southeast Asia. He has examined these themes across the borderlands where Thailand and Myanmar rub against Laos, India, Bangladesh and China.

Professor Richard Rigby

Professor Richard Rigby graduated from the Australian National University in 1970 and went on to do his PhD at the then Department of Far Eastern History (now the School of Culture, History & Language). Richard then joined Australia’s Department of Foreign Affairs in 1975, where he worked until the end of 2001: postings included Tokyo, Beijing, Shanghai (Consul-General 1994-1998), London, and Israel (Ambassador, 2000-2001). He then joined the Office of National Assessments as Assistant Director-General, where he worked until taking up his current position of Executive Director of the ANU China Institute in April 2008. His personal interests in Chinese studies are primarily literary and historical, but his profession has ensured a thorough immersion in most aspects of contemporary China and other major Asian cultures.

Professor Michael Wesley

Michael Wesley is Professor of International Affairs and Dean of the College of Asia and the Pacific at the Australian National University. He has published on Australian foreign policy, Asia’s international relations and strategic affairs, and the Politics of state-building interventions. His book, There Goes the Neighbourhood: Australia and the Rise of Asia (2011), was awarded the John Button Prize for the best writing on Australian politics and public policy.

Previously, Professor Wesley was the Director of the Coral Bell School of Asia Pacific Affairs at ANU, the Executive Director of the Lowy Institute for International Policy, Director of the Griffith Asia Institute at Griffith University, and Assistant Director-General for Transnational Issues at the Office of National Assessments (Australia’s peak intelligence agency).
Dr Imelda Deinla
Imelda Deinla is a Fellow in the School of Regulation and Global Governance (RegNet) and Director of the Philippines Project. She is working on a research grant, "Ways for Women to Participate in Peacebuilding (Philippines)", a multi-year project on pluralist justice, women and peacebuilding in Mindanao, Philippines awarded in 2013 through the Australian Aid Development Research Awards Scheme (ADRAS). Until May 2012, Imelda worked on human rights capacity building in the Asia Pacific as International Programs Coordinator at the Diplomacy Training Program based in the Faculty of Law, UNSW. Imelda has also worked for many years as a corporate and litigation lawyer in the Philippines and was involved in research, advocacy, and litigation involving violence against women and children.

Dr Brendan Taylor
Brendan Taylor is an Associate Professor at the Coral Bell School of Asia Pacific Affairs. Specialising in great power strategic relations in the Asia-Pacific, economic sanctions and regional security architecture, he previously served as Head of the Strategic & Defence Studies Centre from 2011. Dr Taylor holds a PhD and Masters degree from The Australian National University and a BA (Hons) from Waikato University in New Zealand. With a longstanding association at the ANU, Dr Taylor has also held the positions of Interim Director of the Coral Bell School (October 2016 - January 2018) and Head of the Strategic & Defence Studies Centre. His most recent book "The Four Flashpoints: How Asia Goes to War", explores the four most troubled hotspots in the world’s most combustible region.

Professor Hugh White
Hugh White AO is Professor of Strategic Studies at the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre of the Australian National University. He has worked on Australian and regional strategic, defence and foreign policy issues since 1980. He has been an intelligence analyst, journalist, ministerial adviser, departmental official, think tanker and academic. In the 1990s he served as International Relations Adviser to Prime Minister Bob Hawke and as Deputy Secretary of Defence for Strategy and Intelligence. He was the principal author of Australia’s 2000 Defence White Paper. In the 1970s Hugh White studied philosophy at Melbourne and Oxford Universities. He was awarded an AO in the Queen’s Birthday honours in 2014

Professor Rory Medcalf
Rory Medcalf commenced as the Head of the National Security College in January 2015. His professional background spans diplomacy, intelligence analysis, think tanks and journalism. Most recently he was the Director of the International Security Program at the Lowy Institute for International Policy from 2007 to 2015. Prior to that, Professor Medcalf worked as a senior strategic analyst with the Office of National Assessments. His experience as an Australian diplomat included postings to New Delhi, Japan’s foreign ministry and Bougainville. Professor Medcalf has been active in developing Australia’s relations with India. He is the founding convenor and co-chair of the Australia-India Roundtable. He holds non-resident affiliations with the Brookings Institution and the Lowy Institute, and is a member of the independent expert panel providing advice on the Australian Government’s 2015 Defence White Paper.
Dr Amrita Malhi

Amrita Malhi is a historian of Southeast Asia, with a primary interest in Islam, shifting identities and identity conflict in colonial Malaya and contemporary Malaysia. Dr Malhi is a regular public commentator on Malaysian politics, and her work appears on New Mandala, East Asia Forum, Inside Story and The Conversation. In 2015, Dr Malhi convened a public policy outreach and development workshop called Intercultural Adelaide with the support of the Government of South Australia and in association with the Ninth International Convention of Asia Scholars (ICAS9). She has recently developed a set of contemporary intercultural principles for an Australia that is increasingly enmeshed with Asia and searching for a new place in a multipolar world.

Dr Jane Golley

Jane Golley is an Associate Professor and economist, and is currently Acting Director of the Australian Centre on China in the World, ANU. Her career has taken her from the Australian Commonwealth Treasury to the World Bank in Washington DC, and the UNU’s World Institute for Development Economics Research. Jane spent eight years studying and teaching at the University of Oxford before returning to ANU and eventually ending up at the Crawford School of Economics and Government, where she developed a graduate course on ‘China in the World’. Jane’s research over the last two decades has covered a wide range of Chinese transition and development issues, including demographic change and economic, inequalities in education and earnings and the Belt and Road Initiative.

Mr Brendan Sargeant

Brendan Sargeant is an Honorary Professor at the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre at ANU. Prior to this, Brendan was the Associate Secretary of the Australian Department of Defence where he has held a variety of previous positions, including Deputy Head of the Defence Personnel Executive, Minister/Counsellor Defence Policy at Australian Embassy Washington, Deputy Director Intelligence at Defence Signals Directorate, Head of Strategic Policy Division and Deputy Secretary Strategy. He has also previously held a number of senior appointments at Centrelink, the Department of Finance. In October 2015, Brendan completed the Advanced Management Program at Wharton’s Business School and he also has degrees in Political Science and English Literature.

Dr Greg Raymond

Greg Raymond is a Research Fellow in the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre researching Southeast Asian security. He holds a PhD in Political Science from La Trobe University and a Masters in Asian Studies from Monash University. Before joining the Australian National University, Greg was a Policy Advisor in the Australian Government, including in the Department of Defence and the Australian Embassy in Bangkok. His book entitled ‘Thai Military Power’ was published in 2018 and other recent publications include ‘Prospects for the Rules Based-Global Order’ and ‘Naval Modernization in Southeast Asia: Under the Shadow of Army Dominance?’ published in April 2017. Greg writes regularly for the Lowy Interpreter and East Asia Forum. He is fluent in Thai and has working Indonesian language skills.

Dr Jane Golley

Jane Golley is an Associate Professor and economist, and is currently Acting Director of the Australian Centre on China in the World, ANU. Her career has taken her from the Australian Commonwealth Treasury to the World Bank in Washington DC, and the UNU’s World Institute for Development Economics Research. Jane spent eight years studying and teaching at the University of Oxford before returning to ANU and eventually ending up at the Crawford School of Economics and Government, where she developed a graduate course on ‘China in the World’. Jane’s research over the last two decades has covered a wide range of Chinese transition and development issues, including demographic change and economic, inequalities in education and earnings and the Belt and Road Initiative.
Professor John Blaxland

John Blaxland is Professor of International Security and Intelligence Studies, Director of the ANU Southeast Asia Institute and acting Head of the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre at ANU. In addition, he is an active member of the ANU Academic Board, an occasional media commentator, and can speak English, Thai and Spanish. John holds a PhD in War Studies from the Royal Military College of Canada, a Masters in History from ANU and a Bachelors (Hons 1) from UNSW. He is a graduate of the Royal Thai Army Command & Staff College (dux, foreign students) and the Royal Military College, Duntroon (Blamey Scholar). He has extensive experience in the intelligence community including as the principal intelligence officer for the Australian brigade in East Timor, as an intelligence exchange officer in Washington DC, as Director Joint Intelligence Operations (J2) and as a lead author of the three-volume history of ASIO.

Dr Cecilia Jacob

Cecilia Jacob is a Fellow in the Department of International Relations at the Coral Bell School. Her work focuses on civilian protection, mass atrocity prevention, and international human protection norms. Cecilia has a geographic focus on armed conflict and political violence in South and Southeast Asia, and has conducted extensive overseas field research. Her books include 'Child Security in Asia: The Impact of Armed Conflict in Cambodia and Myanmar' (Routledge, 2014) and (edited with Alistair D. B. Cook) 'Civilian Protection in the Twenty-First Century: Governance and Responsibility in a Fragmented World' (Oxford University Press, 2016). Prior to completing her PhD, Cecilia worked for NGOs in France, Thailand and Cambodia, and for the Advisory Group in AusAID, Australia.

Dr David Brewster

David Brewster is one of Australia’s leading academic experts on strategy and security in South Asia and the Indian Ocean region. He originally trained as an international corporate lawyer and practiced for around 20 years in Washington DC, New York, London, Paris and Sydney, including as a partner in a major Sydney law firm. David currently holds appointments as Senior Research Fellow with the National Security College at ANU, Distinguished Research Fellow with the Australia India Institute, University of Melbourne; Fellow with the Royal Australian Navy Sea Power Centre, Canberra; and Visiting Fellow with the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, ANU.

Mr James Goldrick

James Goldrick AO, CSC is currently an Adjunct Professor at the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre at ANU. In 1974, he joined the Royal Australian Navy as a 15 year old Cadet-Midshipman and retired in 2012 as a two star Rear Admiral. He is a graduate of the RAN College, the Harvard Business School Advanced Management Program, the University of NSW (BA) and the University of New England (Master of Letters), and UNSW (Doctor of Letters honoris causa). He commanded HMAS Cessnock and Sydney, the RAN task group and the multinational maritime interception force in the Persian Gulf (2002) and the Australian Defence Force Academy (2003-2006). As a Rear Admiral, he led Australia’s Border Protection Command (2006-2008) and then commanded the Australian Defence College (2008-2011). He is a Visiting Fellow of the Sea Power Centre-Australia, a Non-Resident Fellow of the Lowy Institute for International Policy, and an Adjunct Professor of UNSW at ADFA.

ANU College of Asia & the Pacific
Australian-German Dialogue on the Asia-Pacific
Ms Jacinta Carroll
Jacinta Carroll joined the National Security College as the Director, National Security Policy, in August 2017. Previously, Jacinta was the inaugural Head of ASPI’s Counter Terrorism Policy Centre after leaving the Australian Government where she had held a variety of Senior Executive appointments, and worked in the Department of Defence and the Attorney-General’s Department. She has also served in Iraq. Jacinta is a graduate of the Australian National University, has post-graduate qualifications in management from Flinders University, and holds Masters degrees from the University of Sydney and Deakin University. She is a graduate of the Australian Defence College’s Centre for Defence and Strategic Studies, the Australian Institute of Company Directors and the Australian Graduate School of Management.

Dr Ross Tapsell
Ross Tapsell is a lecturer and researcher at the ANU’s College of Asia and the Pacific, specialising in media and culture in Island Southeast Asia. He is the author of ‘Media Power in Indonesia: Oligarchs, Citizens and the Digital Revolution’ and co-editor of ‘Digital Indonesia: Connectivity and Divergence’. Upon completion of his PhD, Ross was a recipient of the Australian Government Endeavour Postdoctorate Award. He has been a Visiting Fellow at The University of Indonesia (Jakarta), Airlangga University (Surabaya) and Indiana University (Bloomington, US). He has previously worked in Indonesia with The Jakarta Post and the Lombok Post. Ross is currently Director of the ANU’s Malaysia Institute. He is involved in the ANU’s Indonesia Project and the academic news/analysis website New Mandala.

Dr Evelyn Goh
Evelyn Goh is the Shedden Professor of Strategic Policy Studies at the Australian National University, where she is also Research Director at the Strategic & Defence Studies Centre. She has published widely on U.S.-China relations and diplomatic history, regional security order in East Asia, Southeast Asian strategies towards great powers, and environmental security. Evelyn moved to Australia and the ANU in August 2013, and has held previous positions at Royal Holloway University of London (2008-13); the University of Oxford (2006-8); and the Rajaratnam School of International Studies in Singapore (2002-5). She holds Masters (1999) and Doctoral (2001) degrees in International Relations and an undergraduate degree in Geography (1996), all from the University of Oxford. She also holds a Masters in Environment & Development from Cambridge (1997).

Dr Shiro Armstrong
Shiro Armstrong is an economist and Fellow at the Crawford School of Public Policy. He is Director of the Australia-Japan Research Centre, Editor of the East Asia Forum, Director of the East Asian Bureau of Economic Research and Research Associate at the Center on Japanese Economy and Business at the Columbia Business School. Shiro is a recipient of an Australian Government Endeavour Research Fellowship, Gary Saxonhouse Prize Fellowship for Japanese Economics, Crawford Award for best research paper on the Japanese Economy, Vice-Chancellor’s Staff Excellence Award for Public Policy and Outreach and twice the Vice Chancellor’s Award for Innovation and Excellence in Service Quality. He has been a Visiting Fellow at the Center on Japanese Economy and Business at Columbia University, the John F Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University, and the University of Tokyo.
Wednesday 29 August

18:00 - 20:00

Welcome Dinner – Australia in the Asia Pacific

- Host
  - Professor Michael Wesley
  - Dean, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

- Welcome
  - Dr Beatrice Gorawantschy
  - Director Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung, Regional Programme Australia and the Pacific

- Keynote
  - Dr Stephan Fruhling
  - Associate Dean, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

Monster Kitchen Restaurant
Hotel Ovolo, New Acton

---

Thursday 30 August

09:00 - 10:30

Session 1 – Asia under Trump and Xi

- Chair
  - Dr Stephan Fruhling
  - Associate Dean, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

- Speakers
  - Professor Hugh White
    - Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific
  - Professor Patrick Koellner
    - GIGA Institute of Asian Studies
  - Dr Brendan Taylor
    - Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific
  - Dr Evelyn Goh
    - Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific
  - Dr Shiro Armstrong
    - Crawford School of Public Policy, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific
  - Mr Brendan Sargeant
    - Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

Institutes Boardroom
Coombs Extension Building
ANU Campus, Acton

10:30 - 10:45

Morning Tea

Institutes Boardroom
Coombs Extension Building
ANU Campus, Acton

Continues on next page
10:45 - 12:15
Session 2 - Foreign Influence in Southeast Asia

- Chair
  Professor Rory Medcalf
  National Security College, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

- Speakers
  Dr Gudrun Wacker
  German Institute for International and Security Affairs

  Dr Greg Raymond
  Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

  Dr Amrita Malhi
  Department of Political and Social Change, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

Institutes Boardroom
Coombs Extension Building
ANU Campus, Acton

12:30 - 14:30
Lunch Roundtable – China in the World

- Hosts
  Professor Richard Rigby
  ANU Australian Centre for China in the World Centre

  Dr Jane Golley
  ANU Australian Centre for China in the World Centre

Boardroom
Australian Centre for China in the World Building
ANU Campus, Acton

14:30 - 16:00
Session 3 - The Future of ASEAN

- Chair
  Ms Rabea Brauer
  Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung Headquarters, Berlin

- Speakers
  Professor John Blaxland
  Strategic and Defence Studies Centre, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

  Professor Joern Dsch
  University of Rostock

  Dr Cecilia Jacob
  Department of International Relations, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

  Dr Imelda Deinla
  School of Regulation and Global Governance, ANU College of Asia and the Pacific

Institutes Boardroom
Coombs Extension Building
ANU Campus, Acton

18:00 - 20:00
Dinner - Foreign Policy White Paper: A Stable and Prosperous Indo-Pacific

- Host
  Professor Michael Wesley
  Dean, ANU College of Asia and Pacific

- Keynote
  Mr Richard Maude
  Deputy Secretary, Indo-Pacific, Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade

Chairman and Yip Restaurant
Kingston

Continues on next page
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>09:00 - 10:30</td>
<td>Session 4 - Indo-Pacific Maritime Security</td>
<td>Institutes Boardroom Coombs Extension Building ANU Campus, Acton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Chair</td>
<td>Dr Stephan Fruehling ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Speakers</td>
<td>Dr Sarah Kirchberger Center for Asia Pacific Strategy and Security Kiel University</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Dr David Brewster Strategic and Defence Studies Centre ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Mr James Goldrick Strategic and Defence Studies Centre ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>09:30 - 10:45</td>
<td>Morning Tea</td>
<td>Institutes Boardroom Coombs Extension Building ANU Campus, Acton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:45 - 12:15</td>
<td>Session 5 - Religious Extremism and Terrorism in South East Asia</td>
<td>Institutes Boardroom Coombs Extension Building ANU Campus, Acton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Chair</td>
<td>Dr Nicholas Farrelly ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Speakers</td>
<td>Professor Christoph Schuck Technological University Dortmund</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Ms Jacinta Carroll National Security College ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Dr Amrita Malhi Department of Political and Social Change ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Dr Ross Tapsell School of Culture, History and Language ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:30 - 14:30</td>
<td>Lunch Roundtable - Regional Policy Challenges</td>
<td>Boardroom Australian Centre for China in the World Building ANU Campus, Acton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Chair</td>
<td>Dr Stephan Fruehling ANU College of Asia and the Pacific</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Attendees</td>
<td>Government Officials from relevant Departments</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14:30 - 17:00</td>
<td>Tour of Australian War Memorial Museum</td>
<td>Australian War Memorial Museum Campbell</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18:00 - 20:30</td>
<td>Closing Dinner</td>
<td>Agostinis East Hotel, Griffith</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>