

The GIGA Doctoral Programme 2016 Graduates

Name	Dissertation project
Carlo Koos	Ethnic Mobilization in Resource-Abundant African States: Quantitative and Qualitative Analyses of the Role of Ethnic Identity and Natural Resources in Armed Intrastate Conflicts
Daniela García Sánchez	Solar Energy and the Problem of Path Dependency in Costa Rica's Energy System
Franziska Zanker	The Legitimation of Peace Negotiations: A Role for Civil Society?
Ina Peters	Cohesion and Fragmentation in the Social Movement against Belo Monte: How Frames and Identities Promote Movement Dynamics
Karsten Mau	Essays in International Economics: China's Exports, Economic Growth, and Comparative Advantage
Kerstin Nolte	Large-scale Land Acquisitions in Sub-Saharan Africa: Determinants, Processes and Actors
Malte Gephart	Tensions between the International and Transnational Anti-Corruption Discourse and Narratives of Corruption in Paraguay and Chile
Maren Koß	Islamist Resistance Organizations and Conceptions of Political Order: Comparing Hezbollah and Hamas from 2005 to 2013
Maren Wagner	Emergence, Complexity, Discourse: A Critical Realist Approach to Institutional Dynamics in East Asia
Mariana Carpes	From Breadcrumbs to Threads of Wool: Building a Neoclassical Realist Model for the Study of Regional Powers' Nuclear Choices
May Darwich	The Interplay of Ideational and Material Forces in Threat Perception: Saudi and Syrian Choices in Middle East Wars
Nicola Nymalm	Debates on Economic Policies towards Japan (1985–1995) and China (1995–2008) in the United States
Viola Lucas	The Effects of Autocracies on Governance